PRICING OF SERVICES

5,3

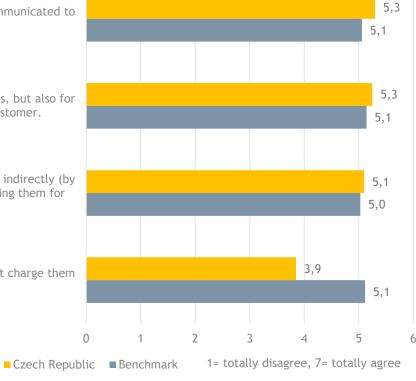

The pricing of our services helps us to achieve our aims in the service business.

The costs of services are made transparent and are communicated to our customer.

Not only do our prices for services account for costs, but also for market prices and monetary value for the customer.

If it is impossible to bill services directly, we bill them indirectly (by including them in the product price) instead of offering them for free.

If possible we do not offer services for free, but charge them separately.
