3. Minutes

The Municipality of Castello di Godego, once carried out the reutilization testing of the new premises available thanks to the refurbishing works implemented, planned to have an open day to attract creative scene and influence its attitude to take part on the reutilization of industrial sites and work together with actors from trade and services for mutual added value and promote industrial heritage to a wider public.

The first idea, planned in late 2019, was to have a conference inviting many speakers of the territory in order to show from different points of view the perspective of the industrial site refurbished and named "Centro Civico Godigese" (Civic Centre of Godego), analysing the opportunities of integration also with the economic local tissue, especially in field of turism. In fact, during the workshop for the presentation of the Transnational benchmarking tool (D.C.7.1) many ideas came up and the Industrial Heritage Day was planned to go further in the discussion and exchange of proposals and points of view.

The Industrial Heritage Day was held on 26th September 2020. Unfortunately, in this period the COVID19 pandemic in course, whose number of contagions was again growing at the very time when the event was planned, and the restrictions applied at national and local level for the organization of conferences and events, limited a lot its dimension and the participation to the event. Actually, the Municipality of Castello di Godego was obliged to send the invitation to a restricted list of stakeholders and not to make too much communication about the event in order to avoid assemblies. Moreover, no catering was allowed. Nevertheless, the event was successful and gave interested and interesting feedbacks from participants.

The event, which first part was held in Villa Priuli, a local cultural centre, foresaw:

- a welcoming from the Mayor of the Municipality of Castello di Godego who stressed the innovative aspects of this new cultural hub in the town;
- a presentation about the activities carried out during the REFREsh project implementation, made by Laura Zuccato;
- the projection of the two videos realized during the testing period, one about the Transnational Photo Exhibition and one about the Art Workshop-Exhibition from Traditional Crafts;
- a presentation about the development perspective that the new Centro Civico Godigese can have in the future both from the cultural point of view and as hub for the launching of new collaborations among the public institutions, the cultural actors and also the economic tissue at local and regional level. Tha presentation was made by Giulia Albertoni from the Venetian Cluster.

An open discussion followed the presentations.

After this session participants moved to the new Centro Civico Godigese where, at the presence of the local Administrators and of the representative of the previous ones' which started the REFREsh project, there was the official inauguration of the building.

After this moment, a Press Conference was carried out.

After that the new Centro Civico Godigese was visited by a number of visitors who could see the spaces and appreciate the opportunities offered by these new premises.

4. Summary

The Industrial Heritage Day carried out on 26th September 2020 showed once more the need to go on with the collaboration and dialogue between public and private subjects in the cultural field. In fact, the availability of the new premises generated a lot of ideas and proposals form participants and visitors who perfectly perceived the added value of having such spaces available to the whole community for the development of cultural activities.

The COVID19 pandemic unfortunately is slowing down the path of these new collaborations, but the basis is given and as soon as the emergency will be finished the collaboration concretely start producing its fruits.
