

INCREASING MOBILITY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE IN RURAL AREAS

YOUMOBIL

Limited mobility options are one of the reasons why young people choose to leave their native rural area and migrate to big cities. This intensifies demographic change, which the YOUMOBIL project intends to challenge by attracting young people that live in rural areas to use public transport and by improving their access to national and European transport networks. Technology-driven pilots will enable smart youth-oriented transport in rural areas. In terms of investment activities, young people will be given hands-on opportunity to work together with planners, decision makers and transport operators on revitalization of rail infrastructure.
